Compumod launches Logo Simulation Competition

February 25, 2011 – Compumod is pleased to announce that it has launched a logo simulation competition open to all local users of MSC simulation software products.

Warwick Marx, Managing Director of Compumod said “To help relaunch Compumod we are running a competition where you have to provide the best simulation of the Compumod Logo using MSC Software. You can drop it, smash it, stress it, heat it, whatever you like. Run your simulation and then send us your input deck or motion model, animations, some cool pictures along with a brief description of your model.”

“The competition is open to all Australian and New Zealand based users of MSC Engineering Analysis software and is designed for users to push the envelope on their simulations and to have some fun.” said Marx

The winner of the competition will receive a voucher from www.adrenaline.com.au to the value of $500 to undertake an experience of your choice.

Entries close 30 June 2011 and the winner will be announced in the following issue of the Compumod Making it Real Newsletter.

For further details or to obtain your 3D electronic copy of the logo geometry contact Peter Brand on peter@compumod.com.au
